

Registered Family Child Care Group Size, Staff/Child Ratio & Education

The group size and number of caregivers for children in family child care, typically vary throughout the day. Family child care providers set a maximum number of children in the group and the number of caregivers (within state regulations) to work with that group. Those numbers are typically reported to parents as group size and staff/child ratio.

Please answer the question below as what you report to a parent inquiring about group size and staff/child ratios in your family child care home.

What is the typical number of children (under age 13) at any one time in your child care home, including you and your assistant's children? _____
